Records Retention and Disposition Schedule CO-2, last revised in 2006, contains the following advice in the Introduction regarding retaining records beyond their legal minimum retention periods for legal actions:

Some records may be needed to defend the local government in legal actions. Records that are being used in such actions must be retained for the entire period of the action even if their retention period has passed. If the retention period has expired by the time the legal action ends, the record must be retained for at least one additional year to resolve any need for the record in an appeal. If the retention period has not expired, the record must be retained for the remainder of the retention period, but not less than one year after the legal action ends. Prior to disposing of records, local officials may wish to consult with their county attorney to verify that no legal actions have been initiated which would require longer retention of the records.

On April 1, 2007, Chapter 13 of the State Finance Law, known as the “False Claims Act,” went into effect. The law allows a local government to bring a civil action to recover financial losses from a fraudulent claim in triplicate, and in addition allows a private citizen with inside knowledge of such fraud to receive up to 30% of the proceeds. The broad scope of this statute covers almost any false claim or statement that involves a demand for payment from the local government or which deprives the government of revenues. Section 192 of this statute permits any legal action to be commenced “no later than ten years after the date on which the violation of this article is committed.” This legal requirement may require that certain records covered by this schedule be retained for longer than their stated legal minimum retention periods, in some cases up to 10 years. This longer retention may not only involve specific records covered by items found in the Fiscal section, but also other records found throughout the schedule needed for supplementary documentation. In instances involving potential actions under the “False Claims Act,” local officials may wish to consult with their attorney to verify whether any specific records warrant longer retention.

The New York State Archives intends to include this additional language in the Introduction of future editions of the Schedule CO-2. I invite you to contact my office or the State Archives’ Regional Advisory Officer (RAO) in your region if you have any questions about how this statute affects the use of Schedule CO-2.

Records Retention and Disposition Schedule CO-2, last revised in 2006, includes an item, Records filed by contractor or sub-contractor with local government related to public works project, in the Public Property and Equipment section. This item, #914, in the current version of the Schedule CO-2, authorizes records destruction three years after contract completion.

The Laws of 2008 (Chapter 8) effectively revised Section 220 (3-a) of the Labor Law upon which the retention and disposition of this contractor records item was based. The revised law lengthens the retention period of contractor records to five years after contract completion. To avoid premature destruction of these records, counties should cease destroying records as authorized by the relevant item and should instead follow the indicated retention period prescribed by law and by the proposed new item below. The New York State Archives intends to revise this item in future editions of the Schedule CO-2.

The proposed revision of the item is as follows:

[ ] Records filed by contractor or sub-contractor with local government related to public works project, pursuant to Section 220 (3-a), Labor Law, including but not limited to copy or abstract of payroll, classification of workers employed on a project, and statement of work to be performed by each classification:

RETENTION: 5 years after contract completion

Please be aware that the proposed revisions are tentative until they are formally approved. I invite you to contact my office or the State Archives’ Regional Advisory Officer (RAO) in your region if you have any questions about the Schedule CO-2 or comments on the proposed revision.

Subject: Records Retention and Disposition Schedule CO-2

Records Retention and Disposition Schedule CO-2, last revised in 2006, includes two items in the County Clerk section concerning assignments of real and personal property and building loan contract records. These items, #177 and #183, authorize records destruction after specified time periods.

Based on discussions with state and county officials and after further review of the items, we have concluded that use of the current items may result in premature destruction of significant records that can adversely affect the legal rights of property owners. The New York State Archives therefore intends to revise both of these items in a future edition of Schedule CO-2.

Because the proposed revisions will significantly alter the required records retention periods, we are now advising county records management officers of the proposed changes. Counties should cease destroying records as authorized by the existing two items and should instead follow the indicated retention periods of the proposed new items. You should note that one major effect of the proposed revisions is to eliminate the authorization that assignments of mortgages, which were previously covered by item #177, can be destroyed after a period of time. Instead, the revised item will specify that such assignments of mortgages should be managed consistent with item #211, which requires permanent retention.

The proposed revisions of the items are as follows:

[177] Assignment of real and personal property, including but not limited to statement of refiling, certificate of cancellation, order vacating assignment, satisfaction and index to assignments

a. Assignment of personal property, including but not limited to wage assignment and assignment of proceeds from personal contracts or estates:
   RETENTION: 6 years after filing or refiling

b. Assignment of rent or lease of real property:
   RETENTION: 6 years after satisfaction

NOTE: Assignments of mortgages of real property are subject to the permanent retention requirements of item no. 211.

[183] Building loan contract records

a. Agreement describing a loan to finance construction:
   RETENTION: 6 years after satisfaction of the associated building loan mortgage
b. Building loan contract index:

RETENTION: 6 years after all contracts indexed therein have been destroyed

NOTE: Building loan mortgages associated with building loan contracts are subject to the permanent retention requirements of item no. 211.

Please be aware that the proposed revisions are tentative until they are formally approved as Commissioner’s Regulations. I invite you to contact my office or the State Archives’ Regional Advisory Officer (RAO) in your region if you have any questions about Schedule CO-2 or comments on the proposed revisions.

Subject: Records Retention and Disposition Schedule CO-2 (REPLACEMENT PAGES)

I am enclosing replacement pages to be used for the revised 2006 edition of Records Retention and Disposition Schedule CO-2. Please note that these are replacement pages only and are not a complete Schedule. You will need to insert these replacement pages into your copy of the 2002 edition of Schedule CO-2. We suggest you discard those 2002 edition pages being replaced (other than retaining one set as a reference copy) to avoid possible confusion with the new pages. You will note that all replacement pages are marked “Rev. 2006” on the lower left of the page.

This 2006 edition should be used in place of previous versions of Schedule CO-2. Because all counties have adopted Schedule CO-2, no further action is needed to use this updated version.

New and Revised Items:
Items on the replacement pages preceded by double diamond symbols ♠ ♠ are either new to this 2006 edition or have been substantively changed from the previous (2002) edition. Items on the replacement pages, or on those pages not being replaced, preceded by a single diamond symbol ♠ were either new to the 2002 edition or were substantively changed in the 2002 edition from the previous version and have not been further changed in this 2006 edition. Revised items may have different retention periods, additional parts, or additional or revised explanatory notes. Please note these changes carefully because only the current items as contained in this edition of Schedule CO-2 are legally applicable.

If you have any questions about specific changes in this new edition of the Schedule or need additional copies, please contact Government Records Services of the State Archives at (518) 474-6926. Schedule CO-2 is also available on the State Archives website, at www.archives.nysed.gov.

Questions regarding use of this Schedule and identification of records listed therein should be directed to the New York State Archives Regional Advisory Officer (RAO) in your Region. Please contact your RAO about any records not listed on the Schedule so that we may incorporate new information in future updates. You may contact the State Archives for current information on our office in your Region.
